

Undie 500

Are you looking for a community service project that will really make a difference? Clothes To Kids needs you for the Undie 500!

What is the Undie 500?

The Undie 500 is an underwear collection drive that challenges participants to collect as much new, packaged underwear and socks as possible to support Clothes To Kids Rhode Island (CTKRI). Teams from service organizations, Boy/Girl Scouts, schools, sports teams, businesses and religious communities may participate by collecting underwear as a group, or challenge another team to a collection competition. However, you decide to participate, be creative and have fun!

Why Underwear?

CTKRI provides 5 new pairs of underwear and 5 new pairs of socks to every student who visits our shop. CTKRI is on track to serve more than 5,000 students in 2016 and we need your help to make sure we can meet the growing demand!

Undie 500 Guidelines

- Underwear or socks collected must be NEW and in packages to count for your team. Used items are not accepted. The suggested collection goal is 500 pairs per team.
- Underwear and socks should be children's size 6 (small) and larger. CTKRI accepts adult sizes.
- The timing for Undie 500 drives is very flexible so that you can pick a time of year that is right for your group. We suggest scheduling your collection for a two-week period.
- Final numbers for all of the teams will be announced at the end of the year, so please plan to have all donations turned in to CTKRI by December 16, 2016.
